With art, one is closer to the one presenting himself than to any other medium.

These artists, who question narrative art and show that there is something unrepresentable, risk being unreliable to an untrained onlooker in need of reality

I've tried to portray the unrepresentable, not the pain, but the life, the victory, about the murder. I wanted to paint the saints of another time, our time. Moments that seem to exist forever.

What art can represent is not the filing of a testimony, a kind of reportage, but the expression of pain. Art says in its pain that it can not. This pain, which runs counter to reason and every thinking.

Andrzej Wichert*
